Kritters for Kids

WOOF! I love kids, and they love me! They think I am a teddy bear and love to pet or cuddle with me. But sometimes, kids get sick or hurt and have to go to the hospital. I can't visit, but I can help them feel better, I think!

I've been pretty successful in getting donations for the Virginia Beach SPCA, so I thought I'd take that mission and expand it a little bit to help kids in the hospital or kids in other traumatic situations.

For 40 days and 40 nights, I am collecting brand new, stuffed animals for the children hospitalized in Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters, as well as gently loved stuffed animals to be donated to other charitable organizations.

This is a great opportunity to give those gently loved stuffed animals sitting in your closet or attic a new chance to bring some happiness and comfort to a child. Please bring these treasures to the West Neck Village Hall, beginning in August; and place them in the donation box with my smiling picture. PLEASE NOTE: The new, stuffed furry friends going to CHKD need to have their original tags still attached. (Stuffed toys donated to patients at CHKD must be new, due to bacterial concerns.)

Please help me to help kids feel better! Please bring me some critters for kids! My tail will be wagging!
